Torber & Bro. sold this week the largest thrasher ever used in this country.

Death of Mr. Chas. W. Radford

Mr. Charles W. Radford who has been very sick and almost helpless for many months, died at his residence on South Virginia Street, at 10:30 o'clock, Tuesday night, aged seventy-six years. For several years he has been a great sufferer, suffering with a complication of diseases, which he bore with christian fortitude until death relieved him of his sufferings. Mr. Radford was a man who had many friends and no enemies and had been a resident of the county for years. Funeral services were held at his residence Thursday after which his remains were conveyed to the city cemetery for interment. He had long been a member of the Baptist church and died as he had lived, a christian.

The Concert a Success.

The entertainment given at the Opera House, Tuesday night, by the ladies of the Charity Association was a successful affair in all respects. A very large crowd turned out to witness the entertainment, showing their appreciation of the noble object for which it was given. The musical features of the evening deserve special mention and elicited more than ordinary applause. The programme was carried out to the letter and want of space prevents our giving it fully and the names of those taking part. All participating acquitted themselves handsomely, proving to the large audience assembled that each one had thoroughly mastered his or her part. Mr. Samuel J. Hodgson, of Clarksville, took part in the exercises, adding much to the success of the evening's entertainment, as also did Miss Myers, of Louisville. The society farce, "Monse Trap," was played concluding the programme when the audience adjourned to the fish building to partake of the elegant refreshments spread. Only a small entrance fee was charged and pecuniarily as well as otherwise the affair was decidedly a success.

Heavy Rain Fall.

About 9 o'clock Tuesday morning there was the heaviest rain fall in the south part of the county, near Rich Station, on the L. & N. Railroad, that was ever known to fall in that section. It rained in torrents for two hours, washing fences, culverts, &c., away, and doing great damage to other property. The scope of country suffering must be that lying along the railroad between Newstead and Durham, and there were several very bad wash outs on the railroad. The following are some of the losses: Tom Baker, $150 worth of hay; Nat Ayce, about 150 bushels of wheat and 45 acres of tobacco submerged; E. L. Lyle, 50 bushels wheat, and tobacco badly damaged; Clint Ayce, crop of wheat and tobacco badly damaged. Roads were washed out and torn to pieces and things presented a frightful appearance after the water spent had spent its force. The cloud was dark and angry but there was a noticeable absence of lightning, which usually accompanies such a cloud. Hands were soon at work on the damaged part of the railroad and in a few hours had made necessary repairs.

The Child's Bible

Is cordially welcomed in Hopkinsville. It is one of the few books that more than satisfies the family, and is increasingly valued the longer it is used.
Dr. C. H. Strickland, of the 1st Baptist church of Nashville, says: "After looking through 'The Child's Bible,' it affords me sincere pleasure to recommend it to old and young. Parents will find it of peculiar and rare service in interesting their children in the study of Holy Writ."
Rev. Arthur M. Groves, of the Christian church in Franklin, Tenn., writes: "I have bought the book and read it in terms of the highest praise. Examine the book while you have the opportunity. If the agent places it in your hands please call on her at Mrs. Joe Galt's, on 7th St., any day or night this week."

Basom Hill

Basom Hill has secured a position with the McCormick factory at Chicago, and left last week to take the situation. He has recently been in the employ of Jno. R. Green & Co.

The grand masquerade ball

given at Clarksville, Wednesday night, was largely attended and everything passed off pleasantly, all of those present having had a gay time.
Basom Hill has secured a position with the McCormick factory at Chicago, and left last week to take the situation. He has recently been in the employ of Jno. R. Green & Co.

W. B. & T. T. Mason

sold nineteen threshers this season, besides an engine or two and a number of mowers. They advertised extensively and have reaped the reward bountifully.
Owen Sullivan was before the City Court yesterday, charged with drunkenness. He was fined $5 and fancy trimmings, which total he paid promptly and went on his way rejoicing.

Miss Maria Sheegog

a very old lady, who has been a resident of Hopkinsville for many years, died Tuesday night and her remains were interred in the City Cemetery Wednesday afternoon, funeral services being held at the Episcopal church. Cork, Ireland, was her birthplace from which she came many years ago and taught school in this county for a number of years.

M. Frankel Dead.

The sad news of the death of M. Frankel was received in this city Tuesday morning. His death occurred in Cincinnati Monday night, and was caused from inflammatory rheumatism. He had only been sick a few days and not until Monday morning did his friends and relatives realize that death was so near at hand, when they telegraphed hisson here to come at once that he was very sick. They immediately left for his bedside but reached there after death had claimed its victim. When his death was announced upon the streets here it cast a gloom over the entire business circle as Mr. Frankel had been identified with the business interests of the city for many years. He was a stockholder in many of the leading enterprises of the city and was a progressive and energetic business man and the city has lost one of its strongest pillars and foremost lights. Mr. Frankel had only recently taken up his residence in Cincinnati, his business interests still being here, and was making preparations to return to this city this week, to spend several months, when he was taken sick. His remains were buried in the Jewish Cemetery in Cincinnati, Wednesday afternoon, a large concourse of friends and relatives accompanying them to their last resting place.

BEAUTY OF FORM IN OUTLINE

OF DRESS AND HOW TO OBTAIN IT.
Something for Dress-Makers to Study and Customers to Understand.

That there is such a thing as beauty of lines and perfection in proportion in a dress, but few people realize until they have given the subject a little thought. We are making great progress in all the arts and sciences and our knowledge upon nearly every subject is constantly increasing, but we find that dress-making as an art is sadly defective at that those who are having their dresses made and paying big prices are bitterly complaining of the result they often get. It is a great satisfaction to buy fine new dress that it is possible to do and we regard to correct principles or without an eye to the beautiful.

That dress makers are improving in their methods there is no doubt, but that the masses of the people are gaining more in ideas and knowledge of what is proper to wear and how to wear it is also true.
No one factor has had so much to do with this agitation and uprising in public sentiment as has the National Garment Cutter, and many dressmakers of wide reputation in the North owe a larger amount of their success and popularity to the use of this system than to anything else.
There is beauty in style, a perfection in proportion of one part to another, an ease of fit and gracefulness in the curves and outlines of the costumes cut by the National Garment Cutter that it is impossible to produce by any other known method. Dressmakers in many parts of the country realizing these facts have hastened to use them and their customers instead of sending their dresses to a distance are having them made by home dressmakers and getting the desired results.
Many ladies in Hopkinsville send away and have all their best work done from home, but after this we hope to see it different. Our home dressmakers should learn if they have not already learned, and do the best work that it is possible to do and then our wealthy citizens should patronize them.
That dressmakers in the south are not up to the standard it should be or that it is in some other parts of the country will not be denied, but now that the feeling has been aroused upon this subject, let home dressmakers learn to do this best work and let the citizens give them a proper patronage and encouragement after they have learned.
